About The OC Film Fiesta

Celebrating its eighth year in 2017, the OC Film Fiesta is a cinematic celebration of Santa Ana's cultural diversity and Orange County's multicultural heritage.

Launched in 2010, the OC Film Fiesta has presented world premieres, award-winning films, community celebrations, workshops and guest filmmakers from The Simpsons, East Los High, The National Center for Jewish Film, Chapman University and Gael Garcia Bernal and Diego Luna's Ambulante documentary project. Special guests have included Miguel Rodarte, Yareli Arizmendi, Hector Jimenez, Kevin McKiernan and Inocente Izucar from the Academy Award-winning documentary Inocente.

The 2017 OC Film Fiesta will feature special partnerships with the Mexican Consulate in OC, OC Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and local merchants and restaurants to promote the cultural life of Santa Ana and central OC.

In addition to presenting quality films and workshops, the Film Fiesta launched two youth media programs in 2013, the OC Cinema Camp and the Mural and Media Class, which provide free instruction for local youth.

A program of Media Arts Santa Ana (MASA), the OC Film Fiesta is a community-building celebration that provides Orange County's diverse audiences with entertaining events that deepen relationships between local cultural groups, businesses, colleges, visitors and the film industry.

Join us for this year's OC Film Fiesta, and be part of a dynamic multicultural cinema celebration in the historic heart of OC that promotes cultural vitality through high-quality programming and community engagement. For more information, email victor@masamedia.org or call MASA Director Victor Payan at 619-701-0073.

MEDIA ARTS SANTA ANA (MASA)

www.masamedia.org

Media Arts Santa Ana (MASA) is a community-based digital arts organization that inspires the growth and development of the Media Arts in Santa Ana by empowering the local community through classes, festivals, screenings, access to technology, workshops, special initiatives, social media training and networking opportunities.

MASA achieves this mission via the aforementioned programs, as well as bilingual technology workshops, arts advocacy and the development of new programs.

MASA produces the popular OC Film Fiesta, as well as the OC Teen Cinema Camp and the Youth Murals and Media Class, which provides free and accessible film screenings, award-winning media arts training and workshops for the Santa Ana and Orange County communities.

In 2017, MASA will move into a new permanent office space in the Depot at Santiago mixed use affordable housing development and launch a new program, the Millennial Producers Academy (MILPA).

Media Arts Santa Ana (MASA) is a project of Community Partners, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, and donations to support our free and accessible programs for youth and adults are tax deductible!

Contact MASA Director Victor Payan at victor@masamedia.org or 619-701-0073 to see how you can help us better serve the Santa Ana and Orange County communities.
